HUA QUAN VILLAGE

HUA QUAN VILLAGE

International Art and Culture Education Center

One of the Best
International Extra/Co-Curricular Havens

Mission & Vision

In a world where societies are increasingly driven by material pursuits, Hua Quan Village hopes to reconnect its guests with nature and the creative, inner self. Acting as a center for Chinese-global cultural exchange, Hua Quan Village focuses on art, culture, nature, and wellness education and activities to provide each individual a personalized path of self-exploration. The village tries to balance Eastern and Western philosophies and is predicated on the belief that only through open communication and the understanding of different cultures can people be brought together and harmony achieved.

Hua Quan Village

Hua Quan Village is an art and cultural village located in Dragon Tiger Mountain, one of China's most beautiful UNESCO World Heritage Sites and the birthplace of Taoism. Located south of Jiangxi, China, the village was created as a place for people of all walks of life to create their own personalized journey of creative exploration. Spanning across 41 acres (165,000 square meters), Hua Quan Village is one of the largest art and cultural centers in the world and houses local and international artists and artisans.

Curated by the nation's leading artists, musicians, and cultural experts, Hua Quan provides a rare opportunity to explore numerous galleries and studios, over 100 murals created by famous artists from around the world, art museums, cultural museums, and a collection of art, wellbeing, and cultural classes/activities catered to every student's needs and interests.

Miracle Mural Project

“The Miracle” mural gallery is one of the largest outdoor mural exhibits in the world. It consists of over 100 murals painted by international artists interspersed throughout the village. The gallery aims to remind us that countless miracles occur in our everyday lives. It is only when we are able to stop in our tracks and appreciate the simplest things and the small gestures that we are able to find inner peace.

Artists were asked to depict what a miracle means to them. Find a mural that resonates with your idea of one of life’s miracles, taking time to appreciate and value even the smallest things in life. Take a moment to listen to your heart. At Hua Quan Village we believe that this single moment of resonance will have a deep and long-lasting impact. When we experience this total transformation of the heart, then we can come together as family and friends to make this world a better place.

Museums

CHINESE CULTURAL MUSEUM

The Chinese Cultural Museum is an interactive museum that provides a comprehensive background of Chinese culture. The museum covers a wide range of topics including calligraphy, architecture, philosophy, religions, and various forms of dance and art.

The art village is committed to welcoming students of all levels and backgrounds to immerse themselves in Chinese culture and learn from our amazing team of internationally acclaimed artists and facilitators who strive to share their passions with the world. At the village, there are over 20 resident artists and facilitators including well known visiting artists from all over the world.

The village has established educational partnerships with a number of schools, universities and educational/cultural entities both international and domestic to offer students a safe and immersive educational trip. We nurture different curricular frameworks serving all Types of Curricula (European, American, British, Chinese, International, and more).

Extra/Co - Curricular Activities

In any challenging 21st century academic environment, the extra/co-curricular clubs and activities' academic weight is more than crucial because of their complementary and differentiated nature and their integration with the curricula and learning objectives, within and outside the classroom. At Hua Quan Village, we built and generated an extra/co-curricular layer of education which is fully integrated within all International and National Schools curricular standards and facilitated by a team of experienced educators.

Our Extra/co-curricular program is flexible and diverse and can serve all types of curricular trends and approaches worldwide (European, British, Chinese, American, etc.), this unique program is governed by a multi-layered curricular model and guided by a complete horizontal integrational approach called "One Subject Called Knowledge. This is accomplished via Inquiry/STEAMS Project based learning and a facilitating environment where differentiation is the key game changer. With more than 26 clubs serving this crucial layer of education, Hua Quan Village has diverse learning outcomes that align with the different local and global curricular approaches and are enriched with different community service opportunities and creative/innovative activities.

Art and Chinese Culture

China's own celebrated artists and practitioners offer you an invitation to their home at Hua Quan Village.

The village offers students a chance to connect with resident artists, take classes and workshops, explore nature, and take in over 100 vibrant murals. Discover the fascinating history and traditions of China—one of the world's first civilizations spanning over 5,000 years - at one of several museums. Learn of the philosophies and innovative Chinese contributions to the world. Art galleries highlight the truest form of expression in different mediums by global artists. At Hua Quan you can unplug from the mundane materialism of daily life and immerse yourself in creativity and innovation.

Local Culture and Community Service

Ancient traditions come alive at Hua Quan Village. Awaken your spirituality or even your curiosity in a place rooted in culture that commemorates Chinese culture and practices, pays tribute to the local history as the birthplace of Taoism, and allows you to explore the village and mountainside.

Hua Quan Village has partnered with the local community to support ecotourism and local Jianxi culture. Residents open their homes and their farms to students looking to experience something new and authentic.

Students ultimately help the local community by providing farm work and by donating the produce picked to those in need in the local community such as the homes for the elderly and disabled.

Experience Local Life

Chinese Medicinal Herbs

The temperate forest in the area are out of reach from urban pollution, they create a unique growing environment for rare Chinese medicinal herbs. Along with experts, students can explore the forest to search for, pick, and learn about these indigenous herbs.

Dinner with Local Families

Learn about Jiangxi food culture and try regional cuisine with local families in their homes. Catch a glimpse of their everyday lives and prepare dinner together. This is both a rewarding and intimate opportunity for guests looking to immerse themselves in the local culture.

Community Service Afterschool Painting

Collaborate with local students to paint a final piece together. Hua Quan Village provides the neighboring schools and students with an opportunity to come to the village to take art classes, our students will take classes with the local students and help them finish their pieces withing a community service structured program.

Experience Local Life

Community Farming

Have you ever considered what it takes to be a farmer? Work with local farmers to learn about how they supply produce to the region. A few highlights:

Bamboo shoot harvesting

Winter bamboo shoots are buried underground and must be found and dug out unlike the spring bamboo shoots which reveal a small horn above the dirt.

Farmland preparation

Although machines are now used in the region, some farms have inaccessible lands and still use plows pulled by oxen.

Rice transplanting

Rice seedlings grown in a nursery are pulled and transplanted into puddled and leveled fields 15 to 40 days after seeding.

Gardenia flower picking

It is a common Chinese tradition to harvest the Gardenia flowers before the annual Dragon Boat Festival and to use the flowers for various dishes.

Dendrobium flower picking

Dendrobium flowers are versatile and used by the local community to make salads, juice, tea, soaps, and even Chinese medicinal mixes.

Zonzi making

A food staple for the Dragon Boat Festival, zonzi is a dish of glutinous rice containing various meats and vegetables wrapped in a triangular tea leaf. Learn the proper methods for making this dish from locals and help them prepare for the festival!

Ai fruit / Qingming fruit making

This Chinese dish is made from mugwort leaf and glutinous rice and shaped into rice or dumplings. The regional specialty is eaten both at the Qingming Festival (tomb sweeping day) and at the end of the Dragon Boat Festival.

Wellness

The unique conditions of Hua Quan Village's surroundings provide an environment of high quality air and lush plant life, which is perfect for those who love nature and the outdoors.

Under the guidance of our experts, focus on select activities focused on your specific health needs. Rejuvenate your body and mind by exploring the village's outdoor activities, visiting the different art exhibits, taking various classes, and eating natural foods.

Wellness & Culture Park

Yoga House

Master Pan began teaching yoga in Shanghai, today he has over 12 years of experience as a master yoga instructor. He brings incredible knowledge and prestige to Hua Quan Village. Now a regional yoga trainer and instructor, he teaches Sivananda Yoga and systemic yoga fasting.

Yanwu Zen Hall

Master Shi Yanwu is the 34th generation disciple of Cao Dongzong of the Shaolin Temple. He is one of the most respected warrior monks in China and he has integrated the Shaolin Kungfu stunts he has mastered into his Zen Buddhism practice. He opened the Yanwu Zen Hall to share health exercises and meditation to anyone willing to accept his teachings and improve their lives.

“Shang Han Tang” Chinese Medicine Health Center

Peng Shang has degrees in both Chinese and western medicine. Peng is a sixth-generation successor of Shang Han Tang Taoist Medicine. After five years as a practicing physician, he began reflecting on western medicine’s numerous issues such as the propensity to alleviate symptoms rather than eliminate the root cause of an illness. His diligent research focused on the severity of the side effects and the harmful effects surgery has on qi—the flow of energy throughout the body.

He has combined aspects of both western as well as Chinese medicine into his practice. Shang Han Tang has dedicated his time to Hua Quan Village since October, 2017, and is one of the most sought after health practitioners for healing arts.

Longhu Mountain

Hua Quan Village is located close to the sacred Longhu Mountain. It is part of the remarkable China Danxia landforms, preserved as a UNESCO World Natural Heritage Site and recognized as a 5A Level Tourist Area. The mountain range is known for its steep red sandstone cliffs. There are 99 peaks, 24 cliffs, 108 natural and cultural scenic spots, and over 20 wells and pools. Numerous springs and waterfalls are scattered around the mountain to explore.

Taoists believe that thousands of years ago during the Eastern Han Dynasty, Zhang Daoling, a Taoist Celestial Master came to the mountains to create the elixir of immortality. Longhu Mountain is credited as the birthplace of Taoism. Among the mountains are ancient sites—cliff burials, Taoist temples, and beautiful scenic areas to relax and unwind.

Luxii River Bamboo Rafting

Enjoy the peaceful Luxi River on a traditional bamboo raft. Pass through stunning scenery and more than 100 mountain peaks over a 3.5 kilometer stretch of river. You'll discover rock formations that resemble dragons, tigers, and turtles and see ancient cliff burials.

“Dreaming of Longhu Mountain” Light Show

China's first dynamic large-scale landscape performance is not to be missed. Hosted by the famous Yang Lan and directed by the well-known Chen Wei, the stunning 3D light show uses the mountains as a backdrop, the Luxi River for a stage, and the cliff face as a screen! It takes place on a fairytale-like set that the audience is invited to walk through and interact with. The 90 minute production involves more than 300 performers. Taoist culture and folklore are skillfully integrated into the show.

Cliff Tombs

There are nearly 200 coffins dating back 2,600 years lodged into the cliff faces of Longhu Mountain. The tombs are an archeological museum and thus have attained worldwide fame. No one has been able to determine exactly how these coffins were placed into the mountain faces. However, the park provides a live show exploring different possibilities.

Longhu Mountain Plank Hike

Embark on an adventure! This high-altitude, 3 kilometer path winds up and around the Danxia landforms offering stunning views to students. Hiking along the dramatic cliffs of Longhu Mountain is the best way to explore on foot.

“The Dream of Tao” Light Show (1.5 hours tour)

The "Dream of Tao" takes place on a fairytale-like interactive set that students can walk through while watching the performance. The show includes a ride on the Luxi River with a stunning light show across a cliff face.

Longhu Mountain Tour (3-4 hours tour)

The tour of the mountains includes a ride and hike around the scenic mountain, a raft ride down the LuXi River, and the Cliff Tomb show. The raft ride provides a beautiful view of the mountains, and passes by numerous famous formations that resemble animals such as a turtle, a dragon, a tiger, etc. Typically one raft carries 8 students and the ride lasts for approximately 20 minutes. Along the way there are great views of the Cliff Tombs. There are nearly 200 coffins dating back 2,600 years lodged into the cliff faces of Longhu Mountain. The tombs are an archaeological museum and thus have attained worldwide fame. The raft ride ends at a location where you are able to watch a 30-minute show, which involves monks climbing down the face of these cliffs in order to show the audience how the tombs were placed in these

Taoism Additional tour (2 hours tour)

The ancient town of Shangqing was built upon the water in the heart of the mountains. The town is rooted in Taoist culture and contains many historical sites with unique architecture. The main street is 2 kilometers long and lined with various significant historical buildings to visit. This tour goes to the various Taoist temples scattered through the mountain. Many of these temples are still active and students will have the opportunity to learn about the origin and history of Taoism.

Our Pedagogical Model

STEAM–STEAMS

Philosophy of Learning

Students do not passively acquire knowledge. The traditional methods of teaching have not proven to be effective. Students construct knowledge as it interacts with their prior learning. Effective learning occurs when students are actively engaged in the learning process.

Our facilitators assist our students to acquire knowledge and skills. Today we do not teach; we facilitate the learning process for our students. Today we do not spoon feed information; we show our students the appropriate ways to acquire and gain knowledge.

Rather than solely teach physics, chemistry, biology, environmental science, humanities, arts, English, Chinese, and math; we help students to explore the many branches of the tree of knowledge.

To accomplish this, our educational center is guided by the STEAM/STEAMS philosophy. Its pillars of knowledge and education include:

- Professional learning community
- Complete horizontal and vertical integration based on “One Subject Called Knowledge” pedagogical approach
- Collaborative planning
- All of this will be conducted within a real-life based and modeling driven learning environment

We nurture critical thinking skills, international-mindedness, and our learner profile traits/competencies within our students, while laying down the foundations to create a better tomorrow.

STEAM and STEAMS have proven to be not only strategies to help create a student-centered learning and facilitating environment, but they are crucial pillars of a daily educational milieu and one of the main layers of our unique Multi-Layered Curricular Approach as displayed on the previous page.

All of our extra/co-curricular clubs’ learning objectives and learning outcomes are guided and met via STEAM/STEAMS Projects that are realized and accomplished by our students within the clubs in our village.
